

Senior Full Stack Developer

KoverNow is a Singapore-based insurtech start-up and has launched its first product in Singapore in Q1 2022. We are passionate about making insurance as easy, transparent and intuitive as using your banking app. To do that, we decompartmentalize existing insurance products, organise them along user's lifestyle choices and offer them B2C on our app.

To build out our product portfolio, platform utility and to accelerate our development pace we are looking for a dynamic, well organized, senior full stack developer to join our growing international team. You will be responsible to Identify, prioritize, and execute tasks and to contribute to all phases of the software development lifecycle including code and design reviews. You should have 5 years + of experience in building transactional B2C apps and the corresponding backend.

Skillset

- Degree in Computer Science, IT or equivalent
- Experience in Flutter, Firebase, Node.js/ Javascript
- Sound knowhow in Web services
- Experience with cloud technologies
- Knowledge in online payment systems and regulatory awareness
- Data Modelling
- Software testing

Opportunity

You will be working directly with the C-level management of KoverNow on every project, thereby contributing directly to the implementation of our business plan. As an organisation, we believe in lifelong learning and will sponsor relevant courses to invest in your professional development. The opportunity is for a full-time position in Singapore.

Compensation

Fixed compensation will be commensurate with experience. You will also be eligible to participate in KoverNow's Preferred Share Option Plan (PSOP).

About us

Founded in the UK in 2019, KoverNow is headquartered in Singapore, centered around its core markets in Asia Pacific with their large demographic base of highly educated and affluent millennials. The company's digitally-enabled insurance platform dramatically improves the customer journey for purchasing and managing different types of personal insurance by streamlining processes, speeding up renewals, approvals and claims. The KoverNow platform can achieve these efficiency gains whilst providing transparency, speed and value to existing ecosystems, channel partners and policy holders. KoverNow's insurance platform provides features and functionality that reflect the changing consumer behavior of a younger demographic mix of policy holders that want control, flexibility and convenience in a truly mobile format.

Contact

If you believe you are the right fit to help us build and monetize the KoverNow experience and believe in outsized opportunities for yourself in a fast growing startup, please reach out to stephan.kaiser@kovernow.com

KOVERNOW PTE. LTD.

4 Battery Road, #25-01, Bank of China Building, Singapore 049908, UEN 202007205G
info@kovernow.com